This creates protection for an individual's ability to receive self-directed educational opportunities from institutions which are "approved by the department of elementary and secondary education". The lack of this bill would seem in bad faith towards the individual's right to proceed fully with an educational opportunity provided by the state of Missouri. Also, these are currently regulated and approved institutions and allowing students to use this new option would create more revenue and growth potential for smaller institutions that are otherwise not an option due to the current lack of defining legislation.
